

Preventing Skin Breakdown During a Pandemic: The Best Defense is a Good Offense

Tuesday December 8, 2020
1:00PM EST, 10:00AM PST

How do clinicians manage the new challenges for wound care during a pandemic? Join Dr. Jean Cefalu as she discusses how nurses are trying to protect and treat skin breakdown and pressure injuries in post-acute care settings.

In the discussion, Dr Cefalu will:

- Discuss new challenges wound care nurses are facing trying to protect and treat skin breakdown and pressure injuries during COVID-19. She will focus on the post-acute care settings.
- Differentiate between avoidable and unavoidable pressure injuries during a pandemic.
- Share evidence based prevention and treatment plans to meet the needs of post-acute facilities with limited resources.

Dr Cefalu will also answer questions in a live Q&A session following the presentation.
